IN RE: PAMIDRONATE PRODUCTS LIABILITY LITIGATION

MDL No. 2120

TRANSFER ORDER

Before the entire Panel: The Panel ordered the parties to show cause why the claims in nine actions involving drugs other than Aredia and/or Zometa and defendants other than Novartis Pharmaceuticals Corp. (Novartis) should not be centralized in a single district for coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings under 28 U.S.C. § 1407. Specifically, the claims at issue involve generic equivalents to Aredia with the same active ingredient, pamidronate disodium (pamidronate). The show cause order encompasses four actions in the District of District of Columbia, two actions each in the Middle District of Florida and the Southern District of New York, and one action in the Northern District of Florida as listed on Schedule A.<sup>1</sup>

All responding parties agree to centralization but disagree upon the appropriate choice for transferee district. Defendants APP Pharmaceuticals, Inc., Bedford Laboratories, Hospira, Inc., Sandoz Inc., and Teva Parenteral Medicines, Inc., support centralization of the subject claims in the District of District of Columbia. Plaintiffs in four District of District of Columbia actions support centralization of the subject claims in the Southern District of New York. Counsel for these plaintiffs represents that plaintiffs in the five other actions encompassed by the show cause order also support centralization in the Southern District of New York.

On the basis of the papers filed and hearing session held, we find that these nine actions involve common questions of fact, and that centralization under Section 1407 in the Eastern District of New York will serve the convenience of the parties and witnesses and promote the just and efficient conduct of this litigation. All actions share factual questions relating to generic equivalents of Aredia, a brand name prescription drug. Plaintiffs in all actions challenge the safety of these generic equivalents and allege that they developed osteonecrosis of the jaw (ONJ), or have a higher risk for developing ONJ, because of their infusion with those pharmaceutical products. Centralization under Section 1407 will eliminate duplicative discovery, prevent inconsistent pretrial rulings, and conserve the resources of the parties, their counsel and the judiciary.

We have selected the Eastern District of New York as an appropriate transferee district for this litigation. This district will provide an accessible metropolitan forum for this litigation, which is concentrated on the east coast. Centralization in this district also permits the Panel to effect the Section 1407 assignment to a judge who is not presently presiding over another multidistrict litigation docket.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407, the actions listed on Schedule A are transferred to the Eastern District of New York and, with the consent of that court, assigned to the Honorable Kiyo A. Matsumoto for coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings.
